Perfume offers intense pleasures. It has always evoked, hinted at, created atmospheres suspended in time. On the skin, it crosses and unfolds its fragrance, giving life to a unique, unrepeatable meeting. Wearing a perfume, everyone becomes protagonist of an individual alchemy, expressing an olfactory story outlining its particular aroma in the world. It is a very personal mark: a perfume will never smell the same on two different people. Scents always react differently according to the skin and the mood. They wrap up our sense of smell, the primitive sense recalling in mankind ancient suggestions, to broaden their vibrations. Maybe it is for this reason that today, the charm of perfumes is still linked to mysterious, volatile feelings, suspended between vertigo and voluptuousness. The universe of perfumes is vibrant, versatile, variform. Perfumes that can be listened to, as if they were music. The Japanese, actually, use an auditory verb when referring to their incense: "To listen to incense". And it is not a case as well, if the perfumery vocabulary speaks of "olfactive notes". Because perfume and music are related. Every time they create a new scent, perfumers give birth to a particular fragrance pyramid, represented by the "geometrical" display, made of the single olfactive notes that, in each perfume, represent its "score", the particular melody deriving from the mix of essences. Almost a geometry of the soul, where the sublime, unatterable harmony of every scent wanders. The scents - citrus, fruity, spicy, floral - are actually divided into head notes, heart notes and base notes.

HEAD NOTES are light, volatile, and fade within a few minutes.

HEART NOTES are more powerful, more solid than the head notes. They have a middle persistance. For a few hours they express the intensity of the perfume, its trail.

BASE NOTES sensual, spicy, they dissipate very slowly and sometimes they persist even for a few days.

NATURAL FORMULA

MADE IN ITALY

A completely natural line, conceived for all those customers attentive to an "environmentally friendly" product, aware that we are our planet. For this reason in the main components (surfactants and emollients) we avoid the presence of all those oil derivatives, so widespread in the cosmetics industry. We carefully avoid any ingredient with scarce skin compatibility. With the precious help of our laboratory technicians, we work hard to offer products that will let your skin enjoy "cuddles and velvets" through the autenticity of the ingredients used. The fragrances used are natural or synthetic, according to the customer's choice. Upon request, dermatological tests are carried out, in order to guarantee the highest safety of the products used. Our science is really at the service of your skin. Always.

ROSEMARY HONEY

ROSEMARY

Rosemary has a fresh, herbaceous, sweet, slightly medicinal aroma. An energizing oil, it may be beneficial for helping to restore mental alertness when experiencing fatigue. Research shows that simply inhaling the aroma of rosemary essential oil can lower the levels of the stress hormone cortisol in your blood. High cortisol levels are caused by stress, anxiety or any thought or event that puts your body in "fight-or-flight" mode. The energizing aroma of Rosemary oil makes it the perfect companion for citrus oils like Wild Orange or Lemon. With a scent that resembles an herb garden, Rosemary oil also blends well with floral oils like Lavender or Jasmine.

HONEY

Honey is a warm, sweet note, with an earthy quality that sees it blending well with cloves, woods and vanilla notes. Rich, luxurious and comforting, honey works wonderfully to emphasize the floral notes of mimosa, rose and chamomille. Top notes are led by orange, almond and cloves, heart notes are carried on by Linden flowers and rose, whilst bottom notes of vanilla leave an unforgettable olfactory trail.

BIOLOGIC FORMULA

MADE IN ITALY

A line representing something more than the simple attention to the "environmentally friendly": it is the quintessence of "Nature", of the lofty quality of the ingredients, coming from extremely controlled organic products. The ingredients available on the market come from organic areas where man works in cooperation with the environment, which in turn offers oils, extracts, essences which keep their virtues. And which, of course, for their "purity", differ from any other similar ingredient, polluted by impure treatments and environmental contaminations. In this line, the substances defined as not "bio-eco-cosmectic" because of their toxicity, their side effects on men, their scarse eco-compatibility and their synthetic origin are forbidden. And, of course, no GMOs. Scents as well are completely natural, with the possibility of using certified essential oils, to guarantee their origin from Organic Agriculture.

GOLDEN LOTUS

The golden lotus, which refers to the Buddhist sutras has two meanings. One is the symbol for the attainment of enlightenment and the other indicates a real flower that is beyond our normal perception. This subdle floral fragrance opens with top notes of bergamot, orange and peppermint, leaving way to heart notes of jasmin, geranium and rose. Haiti Vetiver seals the olfactory memory in the bottom notes.

The aim of Ecolabel is to differentiate and support products which actively promote a sustainable production process, which reduce the use of toxic (and hence water polluting) substances, which have a reduced packaging (decrease of transport waste, also associated with filling/ manufacturing). Ecolabel does not only certify that products and/or services have a sustainable production process, but also that they give appropriate instructions of disposal after their usage. SUGAR CANE

Sugarcane, also known as green Polyethylene, is a plastic made from a renewable raw material: ethanol from Brazilian sugarcane. This specific type of Polyethylene captures and fixes CO2 from the atmosphere during its production, helping to reduce greenhouse gases emission.

The process for making plant-based plastic from sugar cane relies on pioneering technology. The first phase of processing releases the sugar juices which are used to create table sugar. The following phases break down the sugar cane further which is then used to create ethanol, a plant-based alcohol. The ethanol is then turned in a plantbased 'green' polyethylene that has the same physical properties as conventional polyethylene made from oil.

OCEAN PLASTIC

Ocean-based plastic originates mainly from the fishing industry, nautical activities and aquaculture. Ocean plastic fiber is a blend of recycled marine litter and land-based waste.

RECYCLED PE

High-Density Polyethylene, is a plastic polymer with flexible properties that make it ideal for a wide range of applications. These durable properties make it perfect for heavyduty containers and PE is primarily used for milk containers, as well as Tupperware, shampoo bottles, bleach bottles, and motor oil bottles.

PE also does not absorb liquid readily, making it a good barrier material for liquid containers. Furthermore, it is an extremely resistant material to many chemicals, hence its widespread use in healthcare and laboratory environments. It is resistant to many acids, alcohols, aldehydes, esters, bases and oils.

RECYCLED PET

rPET is created by recycling plastics that were previously used as packaging materials, such as plastic bottles, for instance. Once collected, the material is sorted and cleaned, after which it is transformed into rPET, which can then be used for new packaging. This effectively means that you can give each bottle a new lease of life.

PE SOFT - TOUCH

Soft-touch is a known surface spray coating treatment to be added on the plastic component in order to add an additional layer of the coat with the special sensational feedback on the fingertips.

TUBES

PEHD

High-density polyethylene (HDPE) is a thermoplastic polymer produced from the monomer ethylene. With a high strength-to-density ratio, HDPE is used in the production of plastic bottles, corrosion-resistant piping, geomembranes and plastic lumber.

ALUMINIUM

Aluminum is amongst the most environmentally friendly metals on the planet. On a percentage basis, it is the most recycled of any industrial metal. Of the more than 1 billion tons of aluminum ever produced, roughly 75% of the versatile and lightweight metal is still in use today thanks to recycling. Aluminum is an extraordinarily versatile material - it is easily machined, cast, drawn and extruded. The range of forms it can take means it lends itself to a wide range of products, many of which we use in our everyday lives.
